How to Make Healthy Habits Stick

All of us approach personal change a little differently. But these four key principles can help as you work to adopt new habits.

1 Build Confidence

- Focus on doable strategies that build on your strengths and skills
- Consider past successes and create your plan from there

2 Create a Routine

- Develop an eating or activity schedule to feel more in control
- Be sure your schedule works for your life, not just the short term
- Set realistic goals — more success leads to more motivation

3 Focus on What You're Adding

- Try not to fixate on what you're giving up
- Enjoy delicious, healthy meals or the energized feeling that comes after a workout
- Celebrate even the smallest positive changes in how you look and feel

4 Make Your Program Your Own

- Experiment a little to understand what approach works best for you
- Try a different method if one doesn't work for you or your lifestyle
